

AMRL Hitech City gets investment commitment of over Rs 1,000 crore

The multi-product SEZ, financed by Srei and marketed by Attivo, slated to become one of India's largest industrial zones

Kolkata/Chennai, September 21: AMRL Hitech City, a multi-product Special Economic Zone (SEZ) financed by Srei and marketed by Attivo, has received investment commitment of over Rs 1,000 crore from more than 30 customers. The investments will create employment opportunity for nearly 2,600 people.

Spread over 2,518 acres in Nanguneri, Tamil Nadu, AMRL Hitech City is creating a sustainable and comprehensive industrial zone of international standards. The first phase, involving 1,250 acres, offers investors an opportunity to actively participate in the Tamil Nadu growth story.

The SEZ will house a diverse set of industries including electronics, general engineering, auto ancillaries and components, solar and many more. AMRL Hitech City has the potential to generate employment in excess of 50,000 over the next decade making it one of India's largest industrial zones.

Speaking on the occasion, Mr. Indranil Dasgupta, CEO, Attivo Economic Zones, said: "We are overwhelmed by the interest shown by investors. We wish to thank them and the state government of Tamil Nadu for placing their trust in us. AMRL Hitech City envisages a self-sufficient industrial environment that ensures optimal business and industrial growth for diverse sectors, and higher level of national and global connectivity. There is a conscious effort to nurture environment-friendly practices and promote ecological sustainability."

The recently concluded Global Investors Meet, 2015 – organised by the Tamil Nadu government – has successfully showcased the attractive growth prospects of the state and demonstrated the state government's commitment in maintaining the state's position as one of India's most preferred investment destinations. AMRL Hitech City received investment commitment of more than Rs 400 crore at the Global Investors Meet from customers like Zynergy Capital Private Limited, Ashray Logistics Private Limited, Electromate Components Private Limited and many more.

The multi-product SEZ provides easy access to the Tuticorin port and airport, and is well-connected with road and rail networks, allowing industries to connect and communicate with both global and national markets. This is complemented with assured water supply, world-class telecommunication infrastructure and availability of skilled, employable and inexpensive human resources.

Mr. N. Eswara Rao, President, AMRL Hitech City, added: "Investors have already recognised the potential of AMRL Hitech City. Over 100 acres have been leased out to more than 30 customers. The company has received enquiries for another 800-900 acres. We have seen significant interest amongst the MSME segment for AMRL Hitech City SEZ both prior to and during the Global Investors Meet, 2015."
