Rai: Spraying of solution on farmlands to begin today

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: Delhi government will start the free spraying of bio-decomposer solution in farmers' fields from Monday. Delhi environment minister Gopal Rai said the campaign would begin from Fatehpur Jat village under the Narela constituency, claiming that farmers are excited about the solution after seeing its good performance.

This time, the government has made preparations to spray the solution for stubble decomposition in an area of more than 4,000 acres in Delhi, whereas it was sprayed on about 2,000 acres last year.

Rai said Delhi government had started the process of preparing the solution of bio-decomposer on September 24. It is being prepared at Kharkhari Nahar in collaboration with Indian Agricultural Research Institute (IARI). This year, the government is spending about Rs 50 lakhs in preparing and spraying of the solution, which is part of the winter action plan of Delhi government to control pollution.

Air Quality To Slip Into Poor Range In 3 Days

Farm Fires And Vehicular Pollution To Blame

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

New Delhi: The capital's air quality remained in the 'moderate' category on Sunday but is likely to deteriorate to the 'poor' category in the next three days. The air quality is expected to worsen due to increased farm fires and local and regional sources of pollution. According to the Central Pollution Control Board, the overall Air Quality Index (AQI) of the capital was 168 on Sunday.

L S Kurinji, programme associate, Council on Energy, Environment and Water (CEEW), said, "Delhi's PM2.5 concentration has started showing an increasing trend, with daily average PM2.5 levels exceeding the permissible limit of 60 ug/m3 for the past three days. Estimates by urban emissions indicate open fires, transport and emissions from industries and power plants as the leading sources of pollution in the capital. Meanwhile, farm fires in Punjab and Haryana are also on the rise. Between September 1 and October 10, Satellites reported over 676 and 193 fires in Punjab and Haryana."

LULL BEFORE THE STORM?

She added the farm fires were mostly spotted in Amritsar, Tarn Taran and Patiala in Punjab and Kurukshetra, Karnal, Kaithal and Ambala in Haryana. "In the coming weeks, with changes in meteorological conditions, emissions from local and regional sources would only cause deterioration in air quality. Therefore, Delhi government should use the air quality forecast and roll out GRAP measures in advance to prevent unhealthy air quality conditions in the city," said Kurinji.

Weather Forecasting And Research (SAFAR), the forecasting body under the union ministry of earth sciences, said, "The AQI is in the 'moderate' category with PM10 due to fire emission upwind along with local and regional dust under dry conditions. With the presence of such dry conditions, both fire emission and dust suspension are going to degrade it."

Dipankar Saha, former head at CPCB's air laboratory, said, "The wind from the north, north-west is set to affect the air quality in the entire northern plains."

Najafgarh lake fails water quality test, finds report

Priyangi.Agarwal@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: A report submitted by Wetland Authority of Delhi (WAD) to National Green Tribunal (NGT) says the water quality of Najafgarh lake does not meet the prescribed parameters with respect to pH and dissolved oxygen (DO) that will support propagation of wildlife and fish.

As the lake falls in both Delhi and Haryana, NGT has directed both governments to ascertain the water quality status.

The WAD report said the analysis of water quality done by Delhi Pollution Control Committee found pH at 5.06 and DO at 3.5 mg/l. The standard DO for a wetland is 4mg/l or more, while pH should be 6.5-8.5. However, the water quality met the desired criteria upstream where pH and DO were 7.44 and 7.5mg/l, respectively.

The lake receives a continuous input of sewage from Gurgaon and surrounding villages of Delhi. WAD told NGT that it was awaiting a green signal from MoEF for executing its environment management plan (EMP) for preventing entry of untreated sewage, removal of encroachment and conservation of the waterbody.

"According to Wetland Conservation and Management Rules, 2017, in case of trans-boundary wetlands, the central government shall coordinate with the state governments and Union Territory administrations. Delhi government asked MoEF in August this year to clarify if it could go ahead with the execution of EMP or wait for Haryana's plan," said the report. Though Delhi had submitted its EMP in December 2020, Haryana submitted its plan in September this year.

The tribunal was also informed that an expert committee was examining Delhi's EMP to identify actions that could be carried out independently.

NOT IN THE PINK OF HEALTH

In EMPs of both Delhi and Haryana governments, most recommendations for immediate, medium (within 2-3 years) and long term (3-5 years) were almost the same.

The common suggestions for immediate plans were notifications under wetland rules, boundary demarcation using geotagged pillars, constitution of Najafgarh Wetland Committee, constituting wetland mitras, commissioning hydrological assessment and species inventory and developing a comprehensive stakeholder-endorsed management plan.

The medium-term plans included providing alternate road connectivity to settlements at two ends of Najafgarh lake, thus reducing vehicular traffic, especially during peak migration season of birds, conducting carbon and greenhouse flux assessments to determine the role of Najafgarh lake in climate change, installing signage at entry and exit and at key vantage points to communicate the value of the lake and dos and don'ts for people while being in the wetland. The common long-term measures included implementing ecological restoration measures.

An Original In A Digital World

CITY CITY BANG BANG

SANTOSH DESAI

Adjusting to the digital world, with its new rules and dramatically different modes of engagement, has not been easy. Still, on the whole, the human race has coped reasonably well with the dramatic transformation that has been decanted upon it by the rapid march of technology. It is not easy to have a whole new universe suddenly open up, and for one to find that unbeknownst to oneself, one was living offline in an analogue world all this time.

And yet, every so often, something new emerges out of the ether that tests our ability to absorb the new. We have a new animal called NFTs, which is making enough waves for us to have to try and make sense of it. If the acronym is daunting enough, its expanded form (Non-Fungible Token) can strike terror in the most hardened hearts.

And yet, the idea of an NFT, shorn of the technical mumbo-jumbo that surrounds it, is quite fascinating. The NFT addresses a fundamental problem in the digital world — that there is no concept of the original. Every copy is indistinguishable from the original, and copies are proliferated at whim. We can print any number of copies of any document, image or work of art and endlessly circulate any video to any number of people across the world.

And while this is what make the internet so powerful, this enhanced access to all kinds of content makes it impossible to ascribe any value to an act of original creation. A digital painting can generate intangible value if one measures the views it gets and the likes it garners, but it is impossible for that to translate into any material value.

What the NFT does is embed information into any content that technically makes it unique. It becomes possible to tell an 'original' from its copies. This distinction is wholly contrived, for the idea of an original continues to be meaningless in the digital world. Still, it enables the creation of value since it distinguishes that one copy from all the others.

Why is this valuable? It makes works of art, in particular, become collectible. An NFT of a digital painting, video, or tweet can now become a collectible item. Creators now have a new source of revenue, with some additional advantages that the digital form confers. For instance, it now becomes possible for creators to get a percentage every time the NFT is sold or changes hands, ensuring that subsequent popularity of a work of art, something that we have seen all the time in the physical world, provides some benefit to the original creator.

Detractors argue that NFTs are a scam, for they provide little by way of value. Nothing physical is acquired, the idea of ownership is notion-es with no loss of fidelity or resolution.

But in reality, what this points to is a much larger question about the nature of value itself. What makes a painting valuable? What exactly is one owning here? The aesthetic pleasure of a certain kind of representation would be the same even if the painting were a copy. Why is an original so much more expensive than a skillful reproduction or a print? Why do we pay more for a signed limited-edition print than its regular cousin?

Arguably, the source of value in the physical, apart from the artist's popularity, lies not in its tangibility but its scarcity. There is only one Mona Lisa; all other representations of the painting are just that — representations. The hierarchy of value is based on the notion of relative scarcity. The original has the greatest value, and as we move from any tangible association with the artist, the value drops. At its heart, the source of value is not really in owning a work of art but in knowing that no one else can do so.

And while art has wide social currency, many other kinds of collectibles have value — stamps, movie posters, baseball cards, matchbox labels — in each case, the source of value is the fact that people decide to ascribe value to these objects, and that they are of a limited number.

We are surrounded by objects that have an ascribed value without any grounding in the material. Brands of all kinds, but particularly those in the luxury space, carry prices that bear no relation with what goes into making them. We buy the idea of things and value the layers of meaning that surround these brands.

The NFT is simply another way in which our quest for uniqueness manifests itself. Once there is a significant enough group of people that agree to attach value to the idea that even in the digital world, the idea of the original can exist, then the value we attach to NFTs becomes easier to comprehend. Like most things in today's world, the price we are willing to pay for something is less an index of its worth and more a mirror to what we perceive to be our own.

al, and even the claim of originality rests in a digital certificate intelligible only to a few. NFTs are nothing but an arbitrary ascribing of value to something generic and depend on a consensual mass hallucination. NFTs do not have the display value that their physical counterparts do; their value is hidden to anyone but the owner.

It is difficult to wrap one's head around the kind of price NFTs have begun to command. Mike 'Beepie' Winkelmann has sold his work 'Everydays: The First 5000 Days' for $69.3 million. A set of 10,000 uniquely created characters called CryptoPunks are seeing prices cross the $10 million mark. Apart from the bragging rights that come with ownership, the truth is that everyone in the world can have access to the same imag-

সম্প্রতি লখিমপুর খেরিতে কৃষক মতুর ঘটনার পরে এই সভার নাম ‘প্রতিজ্ঞা র্যালি’ থেকে বদলে রাখা হয় ‘নায়ক কিসান র্যালি’। ভাষাবিক ভাবেই এ দিনের সভায় প্রিয়ঙ্কার তুলনায় সবচেয়ে বড় অঙ্ক ছিল কৃষক মতুর বিষয়টি। এই প্রসঙ্গে তিনি বলেন, “গত সপ্তাহে কেন্দ্রীয় মন্ত্রীর হিসেবে নিজে গাড়িতে ছয় কৃষককে গুলি মারলেন। মৃতদের সকলের পরিবারই জানিয়েছে, তারা ন্যায়বিচার চায়। কিন্তু সকলে দেখতে পাচ্ছেন, সরকার কীভাবে মন্ত্রী ও তাঁর ছেলেকে আড়াল করার চেষ্টা করে চলেছে।”

কাশ্মীর ছাড়ছেন হিন্দু-শিখ সরকারি কর্মী ও শিক্ষকেরা

শ্রীনগর, ১০ অক্টোবর: সরকারি নিয়োগে সুরক্ষার আশ্রয় ছাড়তে হিন্দু-শিখ সরকারি কর্মী ও শিক্ষকেরা কাশ্মীর ছাড়ছেন। ১৯৯০-এর দশকে হিন্দু-শিখ সরকারি কর্মীদের হত্যাকাণ্ডের পরে সিদ্ধান্ত রায়নার (নাম পরিবর্তিত) পরিবার যখন শ্রীনগর ছেড়ে জম্মুতে চলে যায় তখন তাঁর বয়স মাত্র দুই। ২০১৫ সালে প্রধানমন্ত্রী যোগেন্দ্রের অধীনে শিক্ষা দফতরের চাকরি নিয়ে তিনি ফের কাশ্মীরে আসেন। অন্ততনাগে নিযুক্ত হন। তাঁর কথায়, “শুক্রবার গোটা রাত আমি ঘুমোতে পারিনি। শনিবার সকালে জম্মুতে চলে এসেছি। শান্তির কথা বলা হয়েছে। সুরক্ষার ব্যবস্থা করা হয়েছে। শিক্ষকের কাছে গিয়ে তাঁদের পরিচয়পত্র দেখে তার পুন করা হয়েছে। তা হলে আমাদের মতো হিন্দু-শিখ সম্প্রদায়ের কর্মচারীদের সুরক্ষার কী ব্যবস্থা করা হয়েছে?”

শুধুই জানাচ্ছেন, তাঁর মুসলিম সহকর্মীরা তাঁকে সাহায্য করেছেন। কিন্তু নিরাপত্তার আশ্রয় সরকারকেই দিতে হবে। সংখ্যালঘুদের একাংশ এ ভাবে উপত্যকা ছাড়ায় নরেন্দ্র মোদী সরকারের ‘নয়া কাশ্মীর’-এর দাবি অনেকটাই বাতিল হয়ে গিয়েছে বলে মনে করছেন রাজনীতিকেরা। আজ নিহত ব্যক্তিদের পরিবারের সদস্যদের সঙ্গে দেখা করেন এআইসি-তে জম্মু-কাশ্মীরের দায়িত্বে থাকা রঞ্জনী পাটিল। তিনি বলেন, “উপত্যকা যাতে ১৯৯০-এর পথে না হটে সে জন্য সরকারের দ্রুত পদক্ষেপ করা উচিত।”

দলের আশঙ্কা খারিজ বিজয়নেরই

সদীপন চক্রবর্তী

শাসক দলের আশঙ্কা এক রকম। মুখ্য প্রকাশকের বক্তব্য সম্পূর্ণ অন্য রকম। এজন্য বিবল ঘটনাই ঘটল দক্ষিণী রাজ্যে। শাসক দল সিপিএমের বা আশঙ্কা, বিধানসভায় দাঁড়িয়ে তা খারিজ করে দিলেন রাজ্যের মুখ্যমন্ত্রী পিনারাই বিজয়ন। যিনি সিপিএমের পলিটবুরো সদস্য।

তথ্য নেই। এই সংক্রান্ত আলাদা কোনও আশঙ্কাও নেই। তবে আরও নানা প্রশ্নের প্রেক্ষিতে মুখ্যমন্ত্রী একই সঙ্গে বলছেন, সামাজিক মাধ্যমকে ব্যবহার করে সাম্প্রদায়িক সম্প্রীতি ও সংহতি নষ্ট করার চেষ্টা মারামাতিই হয়ে থাকে। তার মোকাবিলায় অন্য পুলিশের দুটি বিভাগকে বিশেষ ভাবে সক্রিয় রাখা হয়েছে।

বিদ্যুৎ সঙ্কটে পঞ্জাব, আশঙ্কা অন্য রাজ্যেও

চণ্ডীগড়, ১০ অক্টোবর: নিয়ম করে দিনে চান দুই থেকে তিন ঘণ্টা লোডশেডিং। কখনও কখনও তার বেশিও। বিদ্যুৎ বাঁচাতে শেষ পর্যন্ত এই পছন্দি নিতে হল পঞ্জাবের প্রধান বিদ্যুৎ সরবরাহকারী সংস্থা ‘পঞ্জাব স্টেট পাওয়ার কর্পোরেশন লিমিটেড’ (পিএসপিএল)-কে। কিন্তু কেন? কর্তৃপক্ষ জানাচ্ছেন, কয়লার অভাবের জেরেই এই সিদ্ধান্ত নিতে বাধ্য হয়েছেন তারা।

এ দিনে, আমদানি করা কয়লায় বিদ্যুৎ তৈরি করা গুজরাতেও মুন্সীর ‘টাটা পাওয়ার’-এ হতিমধ্যেই উপাদানে তাল পড়ছে। গুজরাতে ১৮৫০ মেগাওয়াট, পঞ্জাবে ৪৭৫ মেগাওয়াট, রাজস্থানে ৩৩০ মেগাওয়াট, মহারাষ্ট্রে ৭৬০ মেগাওয়াট ও হরিয়ানায়ে ৩৩০ মেগাওয়াট বিদ্যুৎ সরবরাহ করা হয়েছে। দিল্লির কয়েকটি অঞ্চলে বিদ্যুৎ সরবরাহের দায়িত্বে থাকা ‘টাটা পাওয়ার ডিভিশন’ লিমিটেড-ও জানিয়েছে, যেটুকু জোগান রয়েছে তাতে আর দিন দুয়েকের বেশি চলানো যাবে না। ফলে ঘুরিয়ে ফিরিয়ে লোডশেডিংয়ের দিকে ঝুঁকতে হবে তাদেরও। রাজধানীতে এই আসন্ন সঙ্কট এড়াতে প্রধানমন্ত্রী নরেন্দ্র মোদীর কাছে প্রয়োজনীয় পদক্ষেপের দাবি জানিয়ে চিঠি লিখেছেন রাজ্যের মুখ্যমন্ত্রী অরবিন্দ কেজরীওয়ালা।
